Capital Society Flocks to Hear Mrs. Asquith

Visit of Wife of British Statesman Is 'Event of the Week in Washington That Attracts High Circles

Diplomats Crowd Theater

Congressional Reception and Other Events Fill an Important Program

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—There was quite a lively little flurry of affairs in Washington society in the last few days—a dinner at the White House, when the President and Mrs. Harding entertained for the Speaker and Mrs. Gillett; a Cabinet dinner, when the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Denby entertained for the President and Mrs. Harding; a reception at the Congressional Club for the Speaker and Mrs. Gillett, and so on in the official world, with any more private things to enliven matters.

But it was about the coming of Mrs. Margot Asquith, who left Washington for Detroit, that the great social cycle revolved. She delivered her postponed address at the New National, Washington's biggest theater, Monday afternoon, and the house was literally packed with society folk and others, who went to hear themselves maligned. Yet at all, Mrs. Asquith was really quite amiable, and altogether pleasant about Americans and their ways. She referred to her spicy reception in New York laughingly, and every one declared she was both entertaining and fascinating, and surely no one wished, or at least asked, for their money back.

Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, leader of the smart set; Senora de Riano, the American wife of the Spanish Ambassador; the Russian envoy, Boris Bakhmeteff; Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett, Mrs. Louisa Boar, Princess Ghika, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. Frederick Atherton and many others whose names constantly appear in society were present, but neither Mrs. Harding nor Mrs. Coolidge was there.

The British Ambassador and Lady Geddes entertained at a dinner at which Mrs. Asquith was present, but otherwise her visit was not marked by any social flurry on account of the briefness of her stay and the illness of her daughter, Princess Bibesco, wife of the Minister of Rumania, who is in New York.

Seventy Guests Attend White House Dinner

The White House dinner Thursday numbered more than seventy guests, including the more important committees of the Senate and House and a number of important folk in the political world. In point of arrangement the details for the dinner were faultless, the gold service of state being used. The Marine Band, in a program following the dinner, added to the interest of the evening. The arrangements for these state dinners are supervised personally by Mrs. Harding, and newspaper women who must write about them are admitted to the residence an hour in advance of the time set for the dinner, and are shown every courtesy in looking over the state suite, taking note of the table, and so on, and sometimes the First Lady comes down to give the finishing touches and suggestions and holds a little informal reception for the women writers, who later observe the arrival of the guests and note the gowns of the women.

The White House Congressional reception, while it belied its name to some extent, was one of the most charming entertainments ever given for that body in the White House. Many women who wore their hats and street coats were either poked or militarily left them in the pigeon holes with other wraps before going up stairs, and the little Minister of Persia, whose uniform almost weights him down with its broidery of gold, was the only person present with covered head, his little skull-like silk cap being part of his uniform.

The Army and Navy reception to be given Thursday will bring the series of state functions to a close for this season. In point of brilliancy this reception quite equals the diplomatic reception, and foreign naval and military attachés of embassies are invited to meet the American officers. The women of the service, many of them quite wealthy, are noted for their jewels and beautiful gowns. General Pershing will head the army, and the navy, having no corresponding commander in chief, will be led by Admiral Robert D. Coontz, chief of operations. Major General John A. Lejeune will head the marines.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Edwin Denby asked several of their Detroit friends on to the dinner they gave for the President and Mrs. Harding Wednesday, and the coming of the Western guests brought many pleasant asides in a social way. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks, and the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt were, of course, asked, and adding to the unofficial atmosphere were the uncle and aunt of Mrs. Denby, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Canfield, who stopped at the Shoreham, as did Mrs. W. P. Hamilton, also of Detroit, who were house guests of Secretary and Mrs. Denby until Thursday, when they went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Denby, a few blocks away. Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Lyster and Harry L. Lyster, of Detroit, were also guests.

Society Events to Mark Bar Association Sessions

Almost equaling in brilliancy the opening of the arms conference will be the sessions of the American Bar Association to be held in Washington this week, while the social program has never been excelled for the visit of any body or convention. The President and Mrs. Harding will receive the delegates and their wives at a reception at the White House the afternoon of Friday.

On Thursday the Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge will be guests at a large dinner at the New Willard, with Cornelius A. Severance, of St. Paul, president of the American Bar Association, and Mrs. Severance as hosts. Mr. and Mrs. Severance again will entertain a large dinner company Sunday, February 26, when Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and Mrs. William Howard Taft will be guests of honor. Judge Clarence Goodrich of Chicago, chairman of delegates to the conference, and Mrs. Goodwin will entertain at dinner the night of the 23d for the Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft. Another event of great interest is the reception to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Butler the afternoon of Washington's Birthday, when the members of the Bar Association of the District and the visiting delegates will meet the president of the association, Mr. Severance, and Mrs. Severance.

Another large event in which the wives of delegates are interested is the reception and tea to be given at the New Willard Hotel the afternoon of February 23, when Mrs. Severance, Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Julius H. Cohen, Mrs. William Draper Lewis, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. John B. Sanborn, of St. Paul, wives of members of the committee, will give in honor of Mrs. William Howard Taft.

A number of the more important members of the Bar Association will be guests at the dinner which the Attorney General, Mr. Daugherty, will give at the New Willard Monday night for the Chief Justice and associate justices of the Supreme Court and their wives. Mr. and Mrs. Severance will be of the number and they will also be guests at the dinner which Senator Frank B. Kellogg and Mrs. Kellogg will give. Wednesday night Mrs. Fithian will give a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Severance, while luncheons, teas and dinners for the lawyers and their wives fairly overlap one another on the social calendar.

While the Vice-President, Mr. Coolidge, went to Illinois to attend the meeting and speak at the Lincoln Birthday celebration in Springfield, Mrs. Coolidge went to Mercersburg, Pa., to visit their sons, John and Calvin Coolidge, returning to Washington Tuesday. Friday evening the Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Riano entertained a large and distinguished company at dinner to meet Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and Saturday night they were guests of the dean of the corps, the Ambassador of France, and Mme. Jusserand. Sunday luncheons are few in the Supreme Court, but the Associate Justice and Mrs. Willis Van Devanter are entertaining in that manner for the Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge, and Mrs. Joseph E. Thropp, daughter of the late Tom Scott, once called the "father of the Pennsylvania Railroad," will have guests at luncheon to meet Mrs. Coolidge on Monday. There is no hostess in Washington who entertains more beautifully than Mrs. Thropp.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Thom, who have a beautiful home on Pierce Mill Road, Woodlands, will entertain at a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Severance the evening of February 24 and Saturday Mrs. Milton C. Elliott will give a tea in honor of Mrs. Severance. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Potter, of New York, who are spending every waking hour when in Washington entertaining and being entertained, will give a dinner in honor of the Severances.

Mr. Mellon Entertains For Notable Company

Mrs. Graften Minot, who returned to Washington Thursday from a short visit in Boston, entertained at dinner that night. The Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, entertained an important dinner company Tuesday night, having as his ranking guests the Ambassador of France and Mme. Jusserand, and the Ambassador of Belgium, Baron de Cartier. Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spinner Hamlin were among the other guests.

The younger guests of society, among them Miss Cornelia Vanderbilt, daughter of Mrs. George Vanderbilt, and Princess Bertha Cantacuzene, are having a thrilling time attending luncheons and dinners at the Sign of The White Peacock, a curious and quaint art café transformed into such a habitation from the huge brick stable back of the old General Shallabarger house in Seventeenth Street just where Connecticut Avenue begins. The residence has been turned into a place of business, facing Farragut Square, and the side yard gives a passage to the stable, a huge green and white peacock, conventionally painted, being the sign. The woman who transformed her stalls into a fashionable eating place is the daughter of a late army officer and was the successful proprietor of the Purple Iris Tea House, where this ultra-fashionable were wont to dine when wishing something different. The interior has been transformed into a dining room and kitchen by partitions, while the quaint windows and every other feature remain the same. The whole interior is a clean, cool green color, against which are green tables laid with dainty doilies and quaint tableware, a vase or picture wherever it will add most charm, and even the plain wooden stairway to the hayloft has been painted green and embellished artistically, while in the loft are various tea rooms quaint and charming to behold. It was Tuesday that Miss Patricia Airas, a debutante of the season, took Miss Vanderbilt and Princess Bertha Cantacuzene there to dine. Other guests were also of the debutante class and included Miss Dorothea Halberg, Miss Gladys Chapman Smith, Miss Charlotte Wells, of Norfolk, and Miss Sidney Webb.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Anderson, who still tarry at their Washington house, had Sir John and Lady Harrington as guests during most of their visit to Washington until they sailed away Monday. A charming woman who has added much to the life of Washington from time to time for several seasons is Miss Emerson, of Boston, who has taken an apartment at the Hotel Lafayette for the spring. Mrs. Bradley Sergeant, of Boston, also is in Washington, but staying at the New Willard. Mr. and Mrs. Durant, of Cambridge, are spending some time at the Powhatan.

Masons Arrive at Havana For Dr. Kane Memorial

Many Other Americans There to Enjoy Lively Winter Season in Cuba

Special Cable to The Tribune

HAVANA, Feb. 18.—The Cuban capital is entertaining a party of prominent Masons from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, who arrived here during the week on the steamship Siboney to attend the ceremonies commemorating the death of Dr. Elisha Kent Kane, the arctic explorer, who went to Cuba to recuperate from the infirmities brought on by his rigorous exploration. One of the features of the ceremonies will be the unveiling of a bronze memorial tablet in honor of Dr. Kane, who was a Mason. The delegation is headed by the Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Geddes also entertained among the important dinner company Tuesday night, having among the guests the Minister of Cuba and Mme. de Cespedes and Senator and Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, and because the younger members of the embassy staff were present at the dinner Miss Anna Hamlin also was a guest.

Many prominent visitors to the New York and other sections have made that city their headquarters. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith arrived at the Traymore, accompanied by Mrs. Smith and their children. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Post and Miss Post are in another family party from New York at that hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Gorman jr. were among the arrivals of the early week at the Traymore. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Kennerly and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Haggerty have joined the New York contingent at the Traymore on an extended stay.

Brilliant Social Week Ahead for Lakewood Colony

Many Washington's Birthday Events Planned; Golf Tourney Will Be Feature; Benefit Ball March 1

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

LAKEWOOD, Feb. 18.—Because of numerous events which are being planned in celebration of Washington's Birthday the forthcoming week will doubtless prove an interesting one socially. Dances are to be held at most of the hotels and the holiday golf tournament will as usual attract a large field of enthusiasts to the course of the Lakewood Country Club.

Social events of the late winter will reach their climax in the brilliant ball bridge party which is to take place on the night of March 1 at the Laurel-in-the-Pines for an event being held in support of the recreation hut movement here. The success of the big affair seems already to be assured, because of the charitable purposes which it will fill, and because of the social prominence of the women who are arranging the event. Mrs. Irwin H. Hance, Mrs. Samuel T. Skidmore, Miss Sarah R. Compton, Mrs. Charles Lathrop Pack and others of the socially elite are interesting themselves in the affair.

Valentine dances at the Laurel-in-the-Pines and Laurel House, on Tuesday night, together with the patriotic balls held Monday in celebration of Lincoln's Birthday, made for a week of delight for the socially inclined. The greatest throng that has ever been seen at Lakewood crowded the hotels throughout the resort during the holidays, and on every hand the color and gayety of the activities indicated the merriment of the visiting hosts.

In the outdoors the strenuous sports of the winter held full sway and attracted thousands of devotees to the splendid skating surfaces of Lake Carasaljo and the nearby hills, where tobogganing has assumed a place of great importance in the outdoor festivities. Golfers, deterred but slightly by the snowfall, were on hand for play with the clearing of the Country Club course, and the Washington's Birthday tournament is expected to be one of the largest of the season's holiday events, although it will be but a one-day affair.

Park Benjamin and Miss Benjamin of New York are at the Laurel-in-the-Pines for an extended stay. Guy and Alexander Stillman have also arrived there in the care of attendants and will remain for several weeks, pending the return of Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman from Montreal.

From Montreal have also come Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hope, who are stopping at the Laurel House. Mrs. Robert M. Abbott of Birmingham, who spent several days in New York this week, returned to-day to the Laurel House and will remain there for some time. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hanna of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fraser of Philadelphia are numbered among the arrivals at the Laurel-in-the-Pines and are to be noted among the registrants there as the Misses Reidy of Astoria; Miss Grace Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Meachan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Marian Henry, Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Rich, Miss Marietta Atwood, New York; Miss Olive Billard, Miss Marie Billard, Miss Florence Billard, Miss Estelle Billard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McEvoy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. White, Brooklyn.

Mary Garden Joins Commuter Colony Of Atlantic City

Chicago Opera Company Diva Will Make Daily Trips to Philadelphia During Her Quaker City Engagement

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 18.—Atlantic City is to have a well known commuter during the week beginning February 26, when Mary Garden, diva and manager of the Chicago Opera Company, will live at the Ambassador here, on the Boardwalk, and make daily trips to Philadelphia, where her company will appear. For reception of Miss Garden and her entourage a dozen beach front rooms have been engaged at the Ambassador, to be held at her service during her stay.

A new train will go into service on Wednesday, leaving Broad Street station each night at 11:25 for a fast run to the shore. While the new train is a Philadelphia train, it is designed to be of extra travel service to visitors from both South and West, as well as New York, and will be a regular connection of through trains to allow of a straight run to the Boardwalk and shore hotels without lying over for a night in Philadelphia. Another railway innovation of the month will be the running of a fast and luxuriously appointed train direct from Washington for the accommodation of high officials and members of the diplomatic corps on their spring and summer outings.

One of the notable spring sports events will be a number of medal play tournaments on the Linwood Country Club, which will attract many golfers from all sections who are members of that new organization. The contests will be followed by association if teams which will play dinner tourneys and also challenge both local and other golf teams to a number of matches which will extend until the regular spring tournament golfing season. While snow fell in inland cities this week, the storm did not reach the coast, and motorists are enjoying time trips on visits to other resorts both north and south.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Woodcock of Elmhurst have been at the Laurel House, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Emmet of New York are also registered there. Numbered among other arrivals at the big hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Compton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Culkin, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Engle, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lubicz, Miss D. A. Rich, Mrs. Marietta Atwood, New York; Miss Olive Billard, Miss Marie Billard, Miss Florence Billard, Miss Estelle Billard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McEvoy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. White, Brooklyn.

Palm Beach Puts In Big Week of Sport And Entertainment

Brooks-McArthur Wedding Is Crowning Event of the Society Program; Many Dinner Dances Are Given

Special Dispatch to The Tribune

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 18.—Palm Beach, with glorious sunshine and balmy air, is furnishing a wonderful background for the gay social life which was launched a month ago and which continues at a rather hectic pace, with such a round of entertainments as has not been seen here in many a day, and having the marriage of Mrs. Cromwell Brooks, of Washington, to General Douglas McArthur, superintendent at West Point Military Academy, as the crowning event of the week.

The beautiful Spanish home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, where the wedding was held at 4:30 p. m. on Tuesday, was an ideal setting for the affair. The ceremony took place in the great hall, at an altar before a screen of palms and tropical foliage, the flags of the 424 (Rainbow) Division, and West Point being used, together with other flags of the army and navy, as decorations. The wedding itself was very private, only the immediate family and a few intimate friends being asked, but many others came in for tea afterward at the informal reception held by Mr. and Mrs. Stotesbury.

The Sunday evening dinner dance at the Everglades Club was a smart affair, with between two and three hundred guests, and at the Palm Beach Country Club on Sunday evening many small dinners were given, followed by dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Work entertained twenty-two guests, while diners at this party were also present at a dance given at the Country Club on Friday evening by Lawrence Copley Thaw, of New York, and Owen Mason, of New York and Cleveland. Mr. Thaw entertained at dinner in the Garden Grill on Thursday evening for Mrs. Mitchell Henry, of London; Mrs. Ann Kaufman and Miss Diana Dalziel of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Kaufman, whose guests they are.

The ladies' golf tournament is being played this week at the Palm Beach Golf Club with some forty entries, and a former title holder, Miss Bessie Fenn, is among the entries.

Misses Jane and Gertrude Sanford gave a very smart dinner followed by a dancing party at the Everglades Club on Saturday evening, at which many of the club and cottage colony were present. At the dinner Mrs. Joseph Thomas, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Miss Virginia Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn, Captain Charles Winn, Captain Campbell, Stephen Sanford, James Hyde and C. S. Cutting. Many others came in for the dancing party.

Dr. John S. Tanner arrived from Paris this week to occupy a house near the Everglades Club, and joining him there shortly are Richard Lounsbery and Charles Warren, of New York, who are now at the Poinciana.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vance Storrs, of the Ritz Carlton, entertained sixty friends on Sunday on board the East Wind with a sail up Lake Worth and dinner and dancing on board.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarence Jones Entertain at Villa Yalta

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarence Jones entertained at Villa Yalta on Sunday at a luncheon for Mr. and Mrs. Paris Singer, Mrs. John N. Willys, Mrs. Henry I. Miller, Mrs. L. Mitchell Henry, Louis J. Kaufman, Dr. Owen Kenan and John C. Bell. They also gave a dinner on Wednesday evening, followed by dancing, many coming in after the dinner for the dance and supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome N. Bonaparte are entertaining extensively and had a party at the Everglades dinner dance on Sunday evening, including Mrs. John N. Willys, Mrs. Henry I.

Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Daly, Harry Haskins and James P. Kennedy. They gave a dinner for ten at the Beach Club on Monday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Salomon of New York who are at the Breakers.

Harry Payne Bingham arrived from New York on Sunday to join Mr. Bingham at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Donahue, Mrs. Henry Warner, Mrs. Florence Lanthier, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Beale and Miss Stella Wageman, all of New York, are at the Poinciana, where Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden and Philip de Rand arrived from New York on Sunday, with Miss Lucille Baldwin, who has gone to visit Miss Annette Tilford.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite of New York, came to the Breakers for the season on Monday, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Townsend Burden jr. also arrived there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Adams have given a series of teas on their houseboat, the Ubadamu, this week, entertaining among others, Kenneth G. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Blackman Sell, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor will be prominent at the Everglades Club among the season's guests. Mr. Astor arriving there in a private car this week, with Nicholas Biddly and Mrs. Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Pyne and C. S. Cutting. Mr. Astor, who stopped off in North Carolina to visit his mother, Mrs. Robert P. Huntington, will arrive later this week. Mr. Astor has entertained several dinner parties at the Everglades Club and the Beach Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Seligman entertained at their villa this week, at a dinner, those guests including Mrs. Charles F. Choate and Miss Mabel, Choate, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Carstairs, Mrs. William Demarest, Clyde Martin, Jefferson Seligman and Mr. and Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell.

Mrs. William Butler Ogden entertained at dinner in the Garden Grill on Monday evening.

W. G. Crossett and Andrew Pizzini, of New York, have started South on board the Betty R. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Phipps and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps sail south about March 1 for a fishing cruise on the Seminole.

Mr. and Mrs. George Messervy, of New York, are at the Poinciana for the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle and Mrs. A. L. Breisner are also spending the season there.

Hold Children's Valentine Party in Cocoanut Grove

The annual children's Valentine costume party at the Cocoanut Grove took place on Tuesday, with an attendance of some three hundred children, who enjoyed games and sports and a delightful party with ice cream and cake afterward. Mr. Bemis plays host every year to all the children of Palm Beach on St. Valentine's Day.

It is expected that a charity entertainment for the benefit of the Good Samaritan Hospital will be held some time later in the season, and, as usual, it is expected that arrangements will be made to hold this in the Cocoanut Grove. Edward T. Stotesbury is chairman of the committee, and all Palm Beach is interested in the hospital. The new Delphine Dodge Isolation Hospital, opened last year, is proving a wonderful addition to the hospital. Mrs. Claude Grahame-White, of London, who contributes, is giving for the aid of the Carnmor memorial fund, in which Otto H. Kahn expected this week at his Palm Beach cottage, is much interested. Another concert for this week at his Palm Beach cottage, is much interested. Another concert for the memorial is probably to be given at the Poinciana Saturday.

The Sunday afternoon luncheons at the Palm Beach Country Club, followed by professional amateur golf matches, are attracting many who go out after church for luncheon and to follow the matches. Walter Hagen attracted a large gallery here the other day.

The national ladies' golf tournament at the Palm Beach Golf Club and the national tournament at the Everglades Golf Club for the president's cup are the principal sports events of the week at Palm Beach.

The Breakers colony is smart this season and arriving there lately were Mrs. Pembroke Jones, of Newport and Wilmington, N. C. in company of Miss Bowels, Miss Angelica Gerry, of New York and Newport; Dr. and Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite, Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden jr. and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rossiter Betts and Mrs. Eugenie Birkholz motored to Miami this week from Palm Beach, where Mr. Alison V. Armour entertained them on board the Ava.

Frank Howe Jones, of New York and Greenwich, has left Palm Beach to join friends at Miami for a cruise. The Old Guard golf tournament this week was an interesting event and the South Florida championship, started a week ago, is still in play. The annual dinner of the Old Guard Golf Society will be held on Thursday evening this week at the Palm Beach Country Club, Douglas Paige being chairman of the entertainment committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Glidden, of Villa Franklyn, gave a delightful tea-dance on Thursday afternoon in honor of their guest, Miss James Heaton Woods.

Annual Masquerade Ball Of Everglades Club Feb. 28

The annual Masquerade Ball of the Everglades Club will be held there on the evening of February 28, and as always promises to be a brilliant affair. Mrs. E. R. Thomas, who is noted for her delightful dinners, had a large gathering these on Tuesday evening for dinner, and for Miss Mabel Choate and Mrs. Carl de Geraldorf on Friday. A luncheon and dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Willys was also given by Mrs. Thomas this week. Mr. Thomas is enjoying a holiday in Havana.

John P. Grier entertained at one of the largest dinners of the week at the Everglades Club in honor of the birthday of Daniel H. Carstairs, of Philadelphia.
